You can change your title, information on co-authors, and in particular their status, well after having submitted your paper.

Doing so, remember that the co-author that will present the paper at the meeting has to be recorded as the Principal contact and has to appear first in this sequence of names, independently of the naming order of co-authors on the paper.